National Committee for Quality Assurance Day

March 23, 2010

A PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

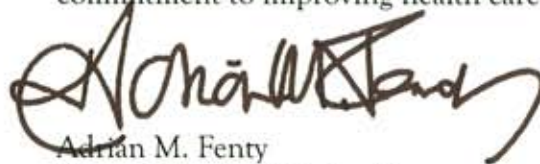

WHEREAS, the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA) is dedicated to improving the quality of health care; and

WHEREAS, NCQA's Healthcare Effectiveness Data and Information Set is the most widely adopted set of clinical quality measures in the United States; and

WHEREAS, more than 15,000 practicing physicians have been recognized by NCQA for their excellent clinical performance and more than 400 medical practices have been recognized for meeting the requirement of a Patient Centered Medical Home; and

WHEREAS, NCQA's performance measurement has improved care for diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure and high cholesterol:

NOW, THEREFORE, I THE MAYOR OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, do hereby join in recognizing the National Committee for Quality Assurance for 20 years of dedication and commitment to improving health care quality.

Adrian M. Fenty
Mayor, District of Columbia
